Freeman's Journal.

DUBLIN: MONDAY, JUNE 8.

A letter has been received from Paris, stater the Russians had invested Silistria, the e a desperate attempt to introduce into s fifteen hundred head of cattle; this s resisted by the Russians. A sortie was a general battle took place, which was fought on both sides, and it is reported s were defeated with the loss of four or d men. This only comes, however, in f a report. Another letter from Paris he Russians have succeeded in throwing ole reinforcement into Sizeboli.

rs by the French mail state a report that e of the African coast has been extended ch fleet to Oran. As this place is 150 Algiers, we cannot give credit to the CLARE ELECTION.

CLARE SESSIONS FOR REGISTERING £10 FREEHOLDERS.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

Ennis, June 4, 1829.

The registration of the freeholders this day, was conducted with more activity than yesterday. Messrs. William Greenc, Cornelius O'Brien, Michael Green, and Charles Studdart, the Solicitors, used every exertion in raising objections to the claims of any persons they thought were to support Mr O'Connell. On the other hand, Mr. N. P. O'Gorman, assisted by Messrs. Richard Scott, Charles O'Connell, and Michael Cullinane, were very active in objecting to the claims of any Brunswick freeholder; and it must be allowed, that the ingenuity of Mr. Scott induced the Barrister on many occasions to give a certificate of qualification. Mr. Major, whose conduct has been generally admired, had Dr. Doyle's address before him on the bench, to which he very often referred, and read portions of it for such persons as seemed to waver in swearing to the value of their freeholds. The entire number registered as yet is only 64, and I think 54 of them will vote for Mr. O'Connell. We have no rumour here relative to a rival candidate, but from the circumstance of a law agent being engaged against him, it is certain there will be a contest, if at the termination of the registration, there can be any chance of success. A number of tall poplar and fir trees are planted at different avenues to the town, bearing green flags; and I understand similar monuments of popular feeling are to be seen through the country. Mr. Maurice O'Connell arrived here to-day, about one o'clock.

REGISTRY OF FREEHOLDS UNDER THE LATE ACT IN THE COUNTY DUBLIN.

The Assistant Barrister attended at Kilmainham, on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday last, to investigate the claims to register votes. 165 persons served notices under the late act—of the above number twelve 10l., and twelve 20l. freeholders were registered during the four days!!! It perhaps may not be amiss to mention that eight were rejected for want of value in the freehold, or that the freehold was not worth the sum specified in the act; four more were rejected because the barony was not stated in the notice. The freeholders of the county of Dublin should not neglect the present opportunity of registering their votes; the sessions court will sit during the present week—they know not when they may be called on to exercise the elective franchise.
